The camp was called to order at 10:30 by Grand-Commander Cox, and the proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. James E. Cook, chaplain of Lee Camp.

Comrade Minitree Folkes moved Grand-Commander Cox's re-election, and in doing so paid him a very glowing tribute. The nomination was seconded by the Rev. Mr. Cook. On motion of Comrade T. H. Free Lecture at Academy.

"Passion Play of Ober-Ammergau" will be the subject of a free lecture at the Academy of Music Sunday evening by Rev. J. A. Rood, formerly of North Carolina. Rev. Mr. Rood is a Baptist divine, having held his last pastorate at Wilson, N. C., and has a favorable reputation as a lecturer and platform speaker.

This lecture is deeply religious and helpful in every-day life. The photographs and paintings are very beautiful, and appear on the canvas to the size of twenty-five feet, projected by a powerful scientific instrument. There is intense life and feeling throbbing through all his lectures, and interest is sustained throughout. officio of all committees. Mails Delayed by Quarantine, adopted, and the name of Mr. A. P. Fitzgerald was added to it.

NO RIGHT TO VOTE.

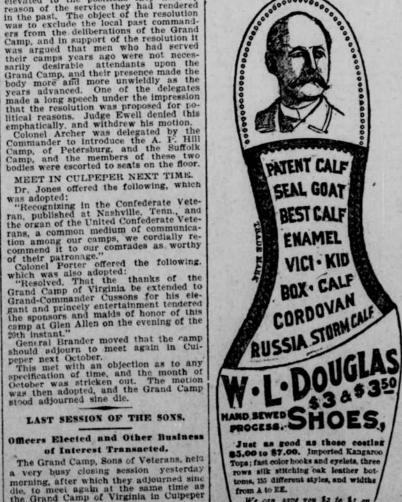

Judge Ewell introduced the following to amend the constitution, where referring to hiembership in the Grand Camp it reads "that the Grand Commander and his staff, Past Grand Commander, commanders of camps, and one delegate for every twenty members or fraction there of of more than ten; or in the absence of commanders of camps, the senior officer of such camp present," to read as follows: "The staff of the Grand Commander shall be an adutant-general, in spector-general, chaplain-general, and two aides-de-camp, none of whom shall have a vote in the Grand Camp by virtue of their pathos merely as staff officers."

This resolution met with considerable opposition. It was contended that the past commanders were men who had won the confidence of the several camps in which they had served, and had been elevated to the positions they held by reason of the service they had rendered in the past. The object of the resolution was to exclude the local past commanders from the deliberations of the Grand Camp, and in support of the resolution it was argued that men who had served their camps years ago were not necessarily desirable attendants upon the Grand Camp, and their presence made the body more and more unwieldly as the years advanced. One of the delegates made a long speech under the impression that the resolution was proposed for political reasons. Judge Ewell denied this emphatically, and withdrew his motion.

Colonel Archer was delegated by the Commander to introduce the A. F. Hill Camp, of Petersburg, and the Suffolk Camp, and the members of these two bodies were escorted to seats on the floor.

PENSION COMMISSIONER SUSTAINS RECOMMENDATION OF DISMISSAL.

RETENTION OF WADE HAMPTON.

Ga., Sought for Longstreet-More Quarantine Interference With the

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 22 .-

(Special.)-The Commissioner of Pensions, after an investigation of the charges in the case of Mr. William C. Tyler, of Richmond, has sustained his previous recommendation, in accordance with which the Secretary of the Interior ordered Tyler's dismissal. Mr. Tyler was a messenger in the Pension Office at a salary of $340 per annum. It appears that he had had a quarrel with a former employee of the Pension Bureau, who was dismissed some four months ago This person, a Georgian, named Richard son, vindictively recalled certain derogatory and disrespectful remarks made by Tyler about Union soldiers nearly year and a half ago. Richardson filed charges embodying the language used by Tyler, and upon these Mr. Tyler was dismissed on the 10th of the present month. Upon the request of Congress man Lamb, an investigation was held last week, with the result as above stated.

Mr. Tyler's record was excellent. There were no demerits against him, and his discharge was entirely due to malice and revenge. The Commissioner and other officials regretted the action, but there was no other course left open, and Mr. Tyler is the victim of petty persecu-

HAMPTON AND LONGSTREET.

Regarding the retention of General Wade Hampton as Rallroad Commissioner, it can be authoritatively stated that the President is considering the ap-pointment of General Longstreet as post-master of Gainesville, Ga. This would remove him from the candidacy for Commissioner, and is an indication that Gen eral Hampton will not be disturbed. He has a large Republican senatorial in-fluence, besides that of Secretary Sher-THE MAILS AND YELLOW-FEVER

There was quite a flurry at the Post-Office Department yesterday over the re-ceipt of a telegram to the Postmaster-General from Governor Johnston, of Ala bama, which said:
"Am advised that our quarantine officers are prohibited from entering and examining mail-cars from infected points. Mail is now being distributed from such places without disinfection. I trust you will remedy at once, to prevent necessity for any action on my part. This created some excitement, as it threatened a conflict.

The department wired the Governo that it was against the rules of the service to allow any unauthorized perse to enter mail-cars, and that the mails were being properly fumigated.

Next came a telegram from the super-intendent of railway mail service at Cincinnati, which said:

"Trains on Nashville and Montgomery line are considerably disarranged because of yellow-fever scare. Quarantine officers at Birmingham, backed by Governor of the State of Alabama, make order as follows: 'When mail agent resulting the state of the state fuses to allow State quarantine officers to examine mail from infected districts, the officer will cut mail-car from train and not allow car to enter the State. shall we permit inspectors to enter the State. Shall we permit inspectors to enter mail-cars in accordance with above order?" Several other telegrams passed between the Governor and the Postmaster-General, explanatory of the situation, and the Governor withdrew his order, and reace was restored. The mail-cars and peace was restored. The mail-cars are now running regularly.

PERSONAL Collector Park Agnew is in town to-day. He said the campaign in Virginia was exceedingly apathetic on both sides. In his opinion, the vote would be small. though it was impossible to predict how the Republicans might turn out. They might possibly poll a very respectable percentage of the party vote, in which event the result would be close, as the indications are that the Democrats are not paying any attention to the canvass, and are blinded by overconfidence.

Patrolman N. T. Mallory late last night arrested a negro named William Hall, who escaped about a year ago from the North Carolina penitentiary. Hall was doing a nine-years' sentence when he escaped. pleted his time. The police of Newport News are looking for a man and woman who are travel-ling about under the assumed name, it is alleged, of Captain and Mrs. Howard, and who are wanted by the police in northern cities on divers charges.
